

Bryony

What's your background?

I have always worked for small start-up companies in Cambridge doing office management and accounting. Usually as the only female in the company I felt I was well placed to be the first woman to join the Rotary Club of Royston and was very warmly welcomed into the Club.

Why did you join Rotary?

Towards the end of my career I was working from home and felt I needed companionship and the chance to help my local community. Rotary has rewarded me with both.

What do you do in Rotary?

I belong to the Community Committee so help organise events in and around Royston. The Club holds events throughout the year such as the Kite Festival, Youth Makes Music, Technology Tournament, Swimathon, Christmas activities, which are outside of the Community Committee but if I am able I will lend a hand so I can make as much as possible of all activities within the Club or as little if work commitments take precedence.

What do you enjoy most about being a member of Royston Rotary Club?

We help raise money for local, national and international charities but it's the local charities and activities for the local people that I care most about. The club is a very friendly and sociable one and, if needed, we can always rely on someone within the Club for help or guidance. We have a speaker meeting usually twice a month and I have learnt so much from these. They can be entertaining and also educational. I try and go on the monthly walks organised in turn by members of the walking group. The walks are usually about 5 miles and always end with a pub lunch.
